

ORALITY AND LITERACY XI

This is a preliminary announcement of the next conference, number IX, in the series Orality and Literacy in Ancient Greece. I trust that this will encourage you to make plans for a visit to Australia in 2010:

Location: The Australian National University, Canberra, Australia

Dates: Tuesday 29 June (registration that evening) to Saturday 3 July 2010

Theme: Composition and performance

Keynote speaker: Professor Richard Martin (Classics, Stanford)

A call for papers will be sent out by email in September 2009 and will be published on the website for Classics and Ancient History at the Australian National University (the Orality and Literacy IX page will be up and running in February 2009).

All who attended Orality and Literacy VIII in Nijmegen, convened by André Lardinois, Josine Blok and Marc van der Poel, will have been impressed by their extraordinary hospitality. Unfortunately, I cannot offer accommodation at no charge. But I can provide a range of accommodation options: a list and further details will be circulated later in 2009.

I look forward to meeting as many of you as possible in Canberra in 2010.

Elizabeth Minchin (Convenor)
